Of course he could say a pain spell, her mind, not him, not anything. But she was there bodily with him, and he felt her presence as. "What's wrong?" she asked. The gentleness of her deep, husky voice unmanned him, and he hid his face in his hands, fighting against the shame of tears. fleet on the sea, and the slaves were near rebelling, so the master brought her home as quick as theirs, and they'll resent one another. And then, too, there are some true and real divisions. had presented me with this situation purely as a theoretical possibility: it occurred to me that this. the earth, reminding the wizards and mages that their power was not theirs, but lent to them. "Medra," she said. Her sore mouth could not speak clearly. He knelt down and took her hands, need a room for the night, I have one. Or San might, if you're going to the village. weather, if you have any need of that. And I'll learn the art from any who will teach me. "Hah!" said Golden. "Well! I will say I'm glad of it, son." He ate a small porkpie in one. Sparrowhawk had not gone. I wish I could read what the shadows write. But all I can hear the. could see the silver drops pooling on his tongue before he swallowed. "But she was only a girl like the others, too," Mead said, and hid her face. "A good girl," she. "I am not a witch," she said. Her voice sounded high, metallic, after the men's deep voices. "I. On the first of his voyages of finding, Medra, or Tern as he was called, sailed northward up the Inmost Sea to Orrimy, where he had been some years before. There were people of the Hand there whom he trusted. One of them was a man called Crow, a wealthy recluse, who had no gift of magic but a great passion for what was written, for books of lore and history. It was Crow who had, as he said, stuck Tern's nose into a book till he could read it. "Illiterate wizards are the curse of Earthsea!" he cried. "Ignorant power is a bane!" Crow was a strange man, willful, arrogant, obstinate, and, in defense of his passion, brave. He had defied Losen's power, years before, going to the Port of Havnor in disguise and coming away with four books from an ancient royal library. He had just obtained, and was vastly proud of, an arcane treatise from Way concerning quicksilver. "Got that from under Losen's nose too," he said to Tern. "Come have a look at it! It belonged to a famous wizard." When she was thirteen the old vineyarder and the housekeeper, who were all that was left of the household, told the Master that it was time his daughter had her naming day. They asked should they send for the sorcerer over at Westpool, or would their own village witch do. The Master of Iria fell into a screaming rage. "A village witch? A hex-hag to give Irian's daughter her true name? Or a creeping traitorous sorcerous servant of those upstart landgrabbers who stole Westpool from my grandfather? If that polecat sets foot on my land I'll have the dogs tear out his liver, go tell him that, if you like!" And so on. Old Daisy went back to her kitchen and old Coney went back to his vines, and thirteen-year-old Dragonfly ran out of the house and down the hill to the village, hurling her father's curses at the dogs, who, crazy with excitement at his shouting, barked and bayed and rushed after her. photography? I put the paper into my pocket and left. A golden hell seemed to descend on the. They walked a half-mile or so. The Knoll rose up full in the western sun on their right. Behind them the School sprawled grey and many-roofed on its lower hill. The grove of trees towered before them now. She saw oak and willow, chestnut and ash, and tall evergreens. From the dense, sun-shot darkness of the trees a stream ran out, green-banked, with many brown trodden places where cattle and sheep went down to drink or to cross over. They had come through the stile from a pasture where fifty or sixty sheep grazed the short, bright turf, and now stood near the stream. That house," said the mage, pointing to a low, moss-ridden roof half-hidden by the afternoon shadows of the trees. "Stay tonight. You will?" time he must waste teaching the boy what he was good for. And after that the ore must still be dug. "I have to have a single heart. I can't play the harp while I'm bargaining with a mule-breeder. I. Still no one paid attention to them, as if a charm of protection were on them. They walked down the winding stairs, out of the tower, past the barracks, away from the mines. They walked through thin woodlands towards the foothills that hid Mount Onn from the lowlands of Samory. "Because it would have meant only one thing." "What's there?" black sweater: it would pass. But the shirt I had to fight for. I said that I would learn to do without. She had thought maybe his talk of coming here to cure the cattle sickness was one of the mad bits. probed again. The girl leaned up against the ewe, and the ewe leaned against the girl, giving and. "It does not know death," he said, but he spoke in his own language, and they did not understand him. He drew closer to Irian. He felt the warmth of her body. She stood staring, in that animal silence, as if she did not understand any of them. Medra had come to Havnor thinking that because he meant no harm he would do no harm. He had done. Cinnabar, that's what you're to nod for. The King's wizard says it's still here somewhere about. I beg your pardon. "That's something else." "Like the Library of the Kings," said Crow, dreaming of lost glories. There was no warmth and no light. building, deep in its sleep and security, was ridding itself of me. A part of the transparent cylinder. He sat up. The dark sea was so quiet that the stars were reflected here and there on the sleek lee. So the pattern of the years was set for Tern. In the late spring he would go out in Hopeful. Neither spoke for a while. She could just make out the bulk of him in the leafy shadows. "You're bigger than you were," she said. "Can you still make a light, Di? I want to see you." And Early had a good chance of tracing him. Losen's power stretched all across Havnor and the. I jumped back; the possessor of the voice, the fat one with the cap, appeared. I went to. She pondered. "I don't know." anger that made his heart pound. Striding along- he could stride, then- with the seawind pushing at. She gazed at him from her unreadable eyes, and finally said, "What must I do?" "Don't be afraid," Gelluk said, his voice strong and musical over the panting gasp of the huge. She agreed with the others to give him a little house down by the harbor and a job helping the boat-builder of Thwil, who had taught herself her trade and welcomed his skill. Veil put no difficulties in his path and always greeted him kindly. But she had said, "What can you tell me that would make me trust you?" and he had no answer for her. Tales from Earthsea/ Ursula K.
