"Just think, all that work for nothing. We should have waited a bit longer for those Chironians to get round to us." "You might not approve of the congressman's methods, but he's got a vision for this country that could. Bernard's expression was grave and distant. "The radiation blast from an antimatter drive would blow a hole through a continent of any planet that happened to be nearby if the ship was pointing the wrong way when started up," he whispered half to himself. "It's been up there in orbit, right under our noses all the time. They've got the biggest radiation projector anybody ever dreamed of-right there, riding out in space with the Mayflower II. They put kids and comic robots on it, and we never even noticed it." Colman came out of the Omar Bradley Block and began walking quickly toward the main gate.
